Carter, Ford Win First Kentucky Primary

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Overcoming a late start, President Ford has upset Ronald Reagan in Kentucky's first presidential primary while Jimmy Carter swamped his Democratic opposition as expected.

The net result for the Republicans is that Reagan's lopsided margin of national delegates selected at last month's state GOP convention has been reversed.

The President will have 19 votes to 18 for the former California governor instead of the previous count of 27-8 for Reagan with two delegates uncommitted.

Carter's sweeping victory gives him 37 of the 46 Democratic national delegates and runner-up George Wallace gets seven.

Whether Congressman Morris Udall, who ran third, gets the two remaining depends on a final resolution of the complicated method of distributing the delegates.

The allotment is based on the primary results and state law requires delegates for anyone receiving at least 15 per cent of the total vote.

The question still to be resolved is whether the 15 per cent applies in part to congressional districts — Udall won his delegates in the 3rd District of Louisville but gathered only 11 per cent of the statewide vote.

All seven of Kentucky's incumbent congressmen were renominated in Tuesday's primary but will have opposition in November.

Two Democratic congressmen, Carroll Hubbard in the 1st District and William Natcher in the 2nd, were unopposed as was Gene Snyder, the incumbent Republican in the 4th.

Renominated were 3rd District

Democrat Romano Mazzoli; 5th District Republican Tim Lee Carter; 6th District Democrat John Breckinridge, and Carl Perkins, veteran Democratic congressman from the 7th.

Partisan reactions to the primary were predictable.

Harold Rogers of Somerset, who headed Ford's campaign, said the victory would have a "tremendous psychological impact" on the President's bid for nomination.

Olney Owen, Lexington, directing the Reagan efforts, said the effect would be only a temporary loss of momentum for his man.

Carter, speaking by telephone to more than 200 supporters at his state headquarters here, said his overwhelming victory "will be a tremendous boost towards a first ballot victory" at the national convention.

Carter's triumph never was in doubt after Gov. Julian Carroll endorsed him and rivals began fading in other primaries.

Jerry Brown and Frank Church, who had given Carter trouble in some states, were not on the Kentucky ballot, and no crossover voting was allowed in the primary.

The Ford comeback was impressive because the President's men did not crank up until months after Reagan's forces established themselves.

But once they did, they spent more money and organized better than Reagan, by acknowledgement of their opponents.

The Reagan loss could have repercussions on any political ambitions of former Gov. Louie Nunn, an early and vigorous Reagan organizer.

At The Local Polls

County Voters Give Landslide To Carter; Reagan Leads Ford

Calloway County vote totals presented no surprise on the Democratic side of the ballot, but local preference contradicted statewide trends in the GOP race.

Jimmy Carter took a landslide win here in the 21 Calloway County precincts, totaling 2,324 votes. His nearest competition was Gov. George Wallace, with 400. Others in the Democratic primary and their vote totals were Jackson, 58; McCormack, 15; Rockefeller 13; Udall, 208. There were 109 uncommitted votes cast in the Demo primary.

Ronald Reagan took a slim victory over President Gerald Ford with a 106-99 vote spread in Tuesday's Republican primary here in Calloway County. Klein received no votes and there were two uncommitted Republican ballots.

In the Republican primary for U.S. Representative, Bob Bersky received 64 votes and McLaughlin 39. He will face Rep. Carroll Hubbard, who was unopposed for the Democratic nomination in the November election.

The 3,339 votes cast Tuesday in Calloway County represented a very light turnout of approximately 26 per cent of the registered voters. A lack of local issues apparently failed to stimulate voter interest in the state's first presidential primary ever held.

Elsewhere, however, several local issues were decided. Marshall County residents voted 3,117 to 3,070 against extending a 7½ cent per $100 assessed valuation tax for the Marshall County school system for 20 years.

School officials said extending the tax, which expires Dec. 31, would have provided about $160,000 a year for school construction and improvements, including an athletic complex at Marshall County High.

Perhaps the most significant area issue was the question of whether Paducah would grant its city firemen a written contract.

Firemen in the city went on strike last February when the city refused to agree to a written pact and agreed to return to work only when city officials said they would put the question to a vote.

Residents voted 2,930 to 2,636 in favor of a written contract for the firemen—members of the international Association of Firefighters Local 168.

The union is recognized as the bargaining agent for the firefighters. The written agreement is to contain a no-strike clause, and contract disputes are to be submitted to binding arbitration.

Bob Cunningham won the Democratic nomination for judge in the new 56th Judicial District composed of Livingston, Lyon, Trigg, and Caldwell Counties. He will be unopposed in the fall. Cunningham had 3,324 votes to 2,065 for Caldwell County Atty. William G. McCaslin and 1,202 for John O. Hardin Jr., the man appointed by the governor when the district was created to fill the judgeship until a judge could be elected. Cunningham will take over in January.

Rescue Squad Answers Alarms

Units of the Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad answered three alarms on Tuesday after a month of little activity.

The first alarm was to a car fire on the Squire Workman Road off 94 East. The auto belonging to Wayne Moore was a total loss after a gasoline leak caused a fire under the hood. One truck and volunteers Bud Miller, Carl Hosford and John Whitmer answered the alarm at 5:07 p.m.

A minor grass fire sent Squad members about a quarter of a mile from 94 East on Highway 280 around 10:15 p.m. The booster hoses were used to extinguish the small blaze and prevent any possible spread of the flames.

A 1976 Firebird Trans Am belonging to Jerry Don Walker of Rt. 3, Murray, was totally destroyed by a fire of unknown origin around 10:30 p.m. on 94 East near the Calloway-Marshall County line. Boosters were used to extinguish the fire that engulfed the car. Walker was taken to the Murray-Calloway County Hospital for minor burns and was treated and released.

Members answering the grass fire alarm were: Bud Miller, Sam Smith, Floyd Garland and John Whitmer.

Members answering the Walker car fire were: Bud Miller, Kenny Collins, Sam Smith, John Whitmer, Floyd Garland, Bernard Steen, Jerry Edwards, Max Dowdy, and Ricky Edwards.

Sentences Handed Down In Robbery

After a lengthy two-day trial, a Calloway Circuit Court Jury delivered verdicts of guilty for three persons charged with first degree robbery at Sav-Rite Drugs here.

Kevin Lomax was found guilty of first degree robbery and sentenced to 20 years by the jury. Wayne Pifat was found guilty of first degree robbery and sentenced to 10 years. Barry Bequette was found guilty and sentenced to 10 years, with a recommendation by the jury that the sentence be suspended.

Judge James Lassiter will formally sentence the three following a presentencing report from probation officials.

Across The Nation

Ford Holds Off Challenge By Reagan; Carter Increases Lead

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Writer

The heaviest presidential primary day in American history is over with President Ford holding off Ronald Reagan on what might have been a big Reagan day and Democratic front-runner Jimmy Carter increasing his delegate lead.

There were six primaries on Tuesday, three in Southern or border states and three in the far West, areas that are the cornerstone of Reagan's Sun Belt strategy.

But Ford managed a split in the popular vote, winning as expected in Oregon and beating Reagan by narrow margins in Tennessee and Kentucky. And while Reagan's bigger wins in Nevada, Idaho and Arkansas gave him a net gain of 20 delegates on the day, the President still leads, 779 delegates to 642 for Reagan in the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Short Agenda In Store For City Council

A relatively short agenda is in store for members of the Murray Common Council at the regular meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Items scheduled to be discussed include:

- The proposed new bylaws for the Murray-Calloway County Hospital;
- A promotion to fill a vacancy in the Murray Fire Department, and;
- Consideration of the resignation of City Planner Dan Grifflin.

City School Board Will Meet Thursday

The Murray Board of Education will hold its regular meeting Thursday night at seven p.m. at the board office.

An agenda released by Supt. Fred Schultz lists several items of business to be considered. Jim Lawson, Director of Murray Vocational School, will review the vocational program. An auditor will be selected for next year, and staff recommendations will be made.

The superintendent's report will include school accreditation for 1975-76.

Carter won Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee, but lost Oregon, considered the day's main event, to Sen. Frank Church. Church also won in his home state of Idaho. California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. easily captured the Nevada primary.

But Carter, despite the mixed results, won a total of 136 delegates, combining those picked up in primaries with 28 more in district conventions in Missouri and two in an Alabama runoff. That puts the former Georgia governor past the halfway mark with 876 of the 1,505 delegates needed for the Democratic nomination.

Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, who picked up a scattered six delegates Tuesday, remains second with 298.5. There is also a bloc of 363.5 uncommitted votes.

Citizens Of Gilbertsville Vote To Abolish Charter

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The street lights are going out this weekend in Gilbertsville.

And if a judge agrees with what voters decided Tuesday, City Marshal Lloyd Olsen soon will have no police duties to keep him from his fishing, said city trustee Jim Boyd.

Citizens voted 111 to 62 to abolish the city charter and make the community of about 300 just another unincorporated area of Marshall County.

Gilbertsville was incorporated in the early 1940s. For about two years now, a group led by Hubert Deboe has charged that the mayor and five-member Board of Trustees—all unpaid—collect taxes from residents but do little else.

The group asked Circuit Judge James Lassiter to abolish the government. Lassiter had the question put on the ballot, saying state law requires him to dissolve the charter if a majority of the city's voters desire.

City officials say Gilbertsville has 206 registered voters. Lassiter said he'll check the figures and in a few weeks, if Tuesday night's unofficial results are confirmed, will abolish the charter.

Boyd said the city's annual revenue of $2,000 to $3,000 goes mostly to maintain streets, operate the streetlights and keep the city police car on the road—and to pay the city marshal about $30 a week in expenses.

If Lassiter dissolves the charter,

Boyd said, "The squad car will be sold."

And with no expense money from the city, he said, Olsen, 54, a retired physician and the community's only law enforcement officer, will spend his time, "out on the river fishing, I imagine."

The city will cease trying to get U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare funds for a city activities building and Environmental Protection Agency money for a sewer system, he said.

"The feds won't deal with us if we aren't incorporated," he said. "We'll have to deal with the area development district or through the county, which could take years longer."

And if the city is to be dissolved, it can't continue paying the Jackson Purchase Rural Electric Cooperative Corp.'s $30-a-month electric bill for the streetlights, he said.

"The street lights will go out next weekend when the bill is due."

Annual Poppy Sale To Be Held Friday & Saturday

Murray Auxiliary Unit 73 of the American Legion will hold its annual Poppy Sale Friday and Saturday, May 28 and 29. Members of the Auxiliary will be at various locations throughout the city.

Poppies are made by disabled veterans in V.A. Hospitals throughout the country and for many of them this is the only income they have. Proceeds from the sale of these are also used for rehabilitation projects by the Auxiliary unit. There is no set price for the poppies, but whatever you wish to donate will be appreciated, a spokesman said.

TROUBLE ON THE SQUIRE WORKMAN ROAD—When Frank Wayne Moore, and his family, left home Tuesday they didn't expect to do much more than go and vote at East Elementary School and return home. "We smelled gas when we started home from East School," Moore said. "When we started down Squire Workman Road, we noticed smoke trailing the car and smelled something like burning tar. When the engine quit, we realized the car was on fire and we got out and ran!" Moore said that he was just glad that he and his family had gotten out of the car safely. The Calloway County Fire and Rescue Squad was on the scene to extinguish the fire, which destroyed Moore's car.

Dr. Jane Wells Speaks At Meet Held By The Kappa Department

The Kappa Department of the Murray Woman's Club held its last meeting of the 1975-76 club year on Tuesday, May 11, at the club house.

Dr. Jane Wells, associate professor of management at others. Penny Warren, president, congratulated Jennifer Crouse who recently won second place for block printing and third for jewelry in the state competition.

The Kappas also voted to donate $50 to the local Red Cross chapter for the purchase of a Resuscitator to use in teaching courses on the life saving techniques.

Jane Hall will serve as chairman of the department for the coming year.

Hostesses for the meeting were Dottie Jordan, Rue McCutcheon, Jane Hopson, Pansy Ford, Melva Hatcher, and Linda Haverstock.

Dr. Jane Wells

Murray State University, spoke on the subject, "Woman—What She Can Do."

Mrs. Wells pointed out that women's roles are changing drastically and it is only natural that men resent the changing roles. She also emphasized that women must have healthy attitudes and knowledge about women's roles in the past, the present, and the future. The past, which cannot be changed, has created independence for women and a sensitivity to

Don't Let Lips Decide Feelings

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune. N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I must take exception to your statement: "The mouth is an erogenous zone, reserved for one's lover—or for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation."

The mouth is an erogenous zone ONLY if one wants it to be. Otherwise it has no more emotion than the back of your hand. My family is not what might be called a family of kissers. However, I've kissed my sisters, father, mother and even my daughters on the mouth, and none of us ever regarded it as anything other than a warm greeting, which was the way it was intended.

Now, I have kissed many girls (and of course my wife) on the mouth when I had amorous intentions and found that they can respond as they feel. It has nothing to do with the "lip contact"—only the intentions of the two parties, which must be mutual and simultaneous.

I trust that you will give this further thought and agree with my view.

KISSIN' PHIL

DEAR PHIL: A kiss is just a kiss, unless it is otherwise intended. But the erogenous zone is a dangerous place to decide which is which.

DEAR ABBY: My father says that I have to ask you what you think the punishment should be for the crime I committed. I stole some money from my parents. So whatever you say, I will have to do. I am 12 years old. GUILTY IN CLIFTON, N.J.

DEAR GUILTY: Pay back the money out of your allowance or work for it. Ask the Lord's forgiveness and write, "I will not steal" 100 times. And vow NEVER to steal again.

DEAR ABBY: We recently announced that our daughter is being married at a large church wedding on June 26th. A friendly neighbor phoned and asked at what time our wedding was scheduled. I told her 2 P.M. Then she told me that HER daughter was being married the same day at 5 P.M. and asked if she could use our flowers.

I didn't know what else to say, so I said yes. When I told my husband, he said I should have told her if she wanted to use our flowers, she should pay half the florist bill. They are just about as well off financially as we are. Now my husband wants me to ring the lady up and make that suggestion, but I haven't the nerve.

WASN'T THINKING

DEAR WASN'T: The time to have made the suggestion was when she asked to use your flowers. Although it would be rather awkward to suggest it now, do so. But remember, you already said yes.

DEAR ABBY: It tickled my funnybone to think that with all the uproar from Women's Libbers, they neglected to change MENopause to personopause.

J.E. IN EL CAJON, CALIF.

DEAR J.E.: MENopause is strictly for women, and I seriously doubt if any man would insist on getting a piece of the action.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Billington-Braddock Wedding Is Saturday

Plans have been completed by Miss Debra Ann Billington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Billington, Jr., for her wedding to Theodore Martin Braddock, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Braddock of Sturgis.

The wedding will be solemnized on Saturday, May 29, at 6:30 p.m. at the Cherry Corner Baptist Church with Rev. Dean Ross officiating.

Serving as maid of honor for the bride-elect will be Janice Bynum, cousin of the bride-elect. Bridesmaids will be Lesa Robertson and Cindy Chrisman. Peggy Wright, sister of the groom-elect will keep the guest register.

Terry McKinney will serve as best man for Mr. Braddock. Groomsman will be Mike Wright, brother-in-law of the groom-elect, and J. K. Henshaw. Ushers will be Steve Bourne, Richard West, and Frank Buchanan.

A reception will follow the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding and the reception.

Palestine United Methodist

Women Meet At Lovett Home

The Palestine United Methodist Church women met in the home of Mrs. Ralph D. Lovett for the May meeting with Mrs. Lovett, president, presiding, and Mrs. Tilman Jeffery giving the opening prayer.

The lesson on "Health Is

You" was read and discussed by each member taking part in the discussion. The purpose of the lesson was to fully understand the inclusive concepts of health with the five basic elements being: Physical growth, Intellectual growth, Emotional growth, Spiritual growth and Social growth.

Mrs. Jeffery read a poem, "Does It Make a Difference?" A reading from the Upper Room, "What Am I Living For," was by Mrs. Earl Childress.

The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Fuqua Hopkins. The group then went to the Colonial House Smorgasbord for lunch.

Other members present were Mrs. Roy Burken, Mrs. Rufe Burken, Mrs. Eulis Goodwin, Mrs. James Ronald Burken and Mrs. Rafe Brooks.

The next meeting will be June 15 at the church.

In sewing, before joining garment sections, be sure to staystitch where indicated on the pattern. This is the first step in constructing any garment. While it may seem like an unimportant detail, staystitching is necessary to hold the fabric grain on the curved edges, thus preventing stretching during construction. — Dean Roper, Courthouse, Mayfield.

A continuous supply of nutrients is important for producing high yields of quality vegetables. Commercial fertilizers are a convenient and economical way of supplying these nutrients. However, they must be used properly; for plants can be damaged by improper application and excessive use of any fertilizer material. Organic fertilizers also supply necessary nutrients but they are often more expensive, less available, and act more slowly than commercial fertilizers. — Pat Cutsinger, Benton.

Decision-making is the act of determining in your own mind a course of action. It is selecting one alternative or solution to the problem from two or more. The decision made is the result of effort by one person or a family. The approach used depends on the circumstances. — Barletta Wraether, Murray.

Down the Garden Path

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

I find the various cycles of nature most interesting. Consider the locust or cicadas that are leaving their overcoat shells all around us. The queer little wells they leave as they burrow their way out of the ground, makes you wonder how in the world they can manage such things. Nature is truly wonderful. They say that these odd creatures do little if any damage to the growing things.

But there is another pest that has suddenly appeared in my yard that I have not seen in several years, the moles. They have come in dozens and the runs have almost ruined several beds. I am laying in a supply of moth balls and will drop one ball every four or five feet down in the run. You can push it in with your finger and can hear it drop down. There is something about the odor of the moth balls that they don't like and I rarely have to use a second application to get rid of them. They are remarkable little animals too, with their ability to burrow through dirt that is sometimes quite hard. But they can damage plants, shrubs and bulbs if allowed to continue their work.

This is the season for pests. I always remember the oft-quoted verse from the prophet

Joel and feel that it is happening to me. "That which the Palmer-worm left hath the locust eaten; that which the locust hath left hath the cankerworm eaten; and that which the cankerworm hath left hath the caterpillar eaten." It does seem that some seasons are worse than others. But, thank goodness, there are sprays and powders and what-not to get rid of the pests. At least we can control them so that damage will be negligible.

My new roses had tiny buds for the first time and nestled inside and around them were dozens of little white aphids. But rose dust took care of them very readily. From now until late summer we must keep abreast of the onslaught. It will take constant inspection of shrubbery and a weekly check on rose bushes. That isn't as much of a task as it may seem. In fact, it can be one of the most pleasant events of the day. A daily walk around the yard, enjoying each plant and blossom as you go, gives a fresh appreciation of nature, an awareness of the beauty around us, an enrichment of the spirit, the sheer joy of being alive—no matter how old you are. That is a marvel of this time of the year, we can become part of nature and all its mysteries.

Six Members Attend State Meet Of TOPS

Six members of the Local Chapter of TOPS No. Kentucky 34, Murray, attended State Recognition Day in Louisville May 14 and 15.

Those attending were the new leader, Mrs. Dolores Holzschuk, Mrs. Shirley Morris, Mrs. Lula Key, Mrs. Dian Boyd, Mrs. Nadean Smith, and Mrs. LaVelle McClure.

Mrs. Lula Key was honored as Chapter Queen after having lost fifty-two pounds to reach her goal. Since she has reached her goal, she graduated in a very impressive ceremony and is now a member of KOPS (Keep Off Pounds Sensibility). The chapter is proud of the accomplishment Mrs. Key has made, a chapter spokesman.

The local chapter meets each Tuesday at six p. m. at the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Another member, Mrs. Shirley Morris, who graduated last year, has been a member of KOPS for two years and was honored as a KOPS Alumni.

Mrs. Holzschuk, leader, appeared on stage in the leaders parade. Between 850 and 900 guests were at the new Holiday City Convention Center, and the Murray Club was recognized as high as any club in Kentucky.

The Zeta Department of Murray Woman's Club will have a picnic on the lawn of the club house on Thursday, May 27, at seven p. m.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Max Beale, Mrs. Howard Titworth, Mrs. Felix H. Dunn, Mrs. Stark Erwin, Mrs. Maurice Ryan, Mrs. W. P. Russell, and Mrs. Porter White.

Stellar influences indicate some indecisiveness. Counter by urging yourself into positive action. Handle each situation as it arises, evaluate each on its own merits.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
In dealings with others, be sure to note their reactions. The right word at the right time could be a big factor in putting over your ideas.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Fine solar influences! Invent, improvise, build anew where it will help you to take a forward step. Your incentive and ingenuity should be keen.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Routine activities should run without many hitches, yet there may be certain interruptions in new ventures. Don't be dismayed. With careful study, you can cope.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Unusual tact needed here—in family, social and business circles. Don't "rock the boat" or stir up dissension—only too easily done now, if you are not alert.

SCORPIO

Ford Fashions Stalemate That Boosts His Prospects For GOP's Nomination

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

President Ford has fashioned a stalemate that boosts his prospects in the contest for the Republican presidential nomination.

And trouble signals are up for Democrat Jimmy Carter, his quest for the White House slowed by the one-two punch of Sen. Frank Church and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

That was the net result of six presidential primary elections Tuesday, a set in which Ronald Reagan won three landslides while Ford inched to a tight Tennessee victory and won relatively close races in Kentucky and Oregon.

Carter scored three landslides of his own, in Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee.

But he lost a key test to Church in Oregon.

Brown won in Nevada, Church at home in Idaho.

And the season's busiest single primary election day served only to point the way toward the finale on June 8.

In effect, Ford backed into a relatively successful Tuesday. It produced a net gain of 20 nominating votes for Reagan, but it also put three primaries into each candidate's column.

The President remained well ahead in nationwide delegate strength—and for the leader in a two-man race, ties are enough. If he could manage an even split with Reagan in the remaining delegate competition, Ford will be within a vote or two of nomination. But that will be difficult; there are still delegates to come from the Southern and Western areas where Reagan is strongest.

Furthermore, there is the big California primary in two weeks, the final test, in the state where Reagan twice was elected governor. It is for 167 nominating votes, winner take all.

Ford strategists say he is behind Reagan in California but can catch up, and the President has been campaigning there this week. Reagan's camp calls victory a must for the challenger, and says he will win it.

In the Democratic competition, Carter added to his runaway lead in delegate strength, but there was fresh evidence that the former Georgia governor will go to the Democratic National Convention well short of a majority.

The evidence was produced when Church beat Carter handily in the Oregon contest, despite a write-in vote for Brown that divided the anti-Carter ballots.

Brown was gearing up for California, too. It will apportion 280 Democratic delegates. "The California primary will be critical," he said.

Church said he'll make a run in California, but rates Brown a heavy favorite. "Gov. Brown is a favorite son candidate," he said. "He's running in his own state and you can't take that away from him."

Church and Brown read Tuesday's verdicts as a sign that the Democratic contest is still wide open. So did Rep. Morris K. Udall, who made a minor campaign effort in the three southern states, but ran far back, behind Carter and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, in all of them. Udall said he will go to the convention with more delegates than anyone but Carter.

Carter's losses were largely psychological; they proved him vulnerable. But he said he doesn't have to win every race. His gains were numerical. And Carter's response to his rivals was simple: look at the numbers.

"Look at the national picture," he said. "... After 15 primaries in May, I will have won more than half, against fresh candidates. We're well ahead of schedule, with nationwide support. I feel good about it."

His gain, subject to adjustments when all the Tuesday votes are counted, came to 136 Democratic delegates, and that pushed him past the halfway mark in the quest for the 1,505 votes needed for nomination. There are now 876 delegates in the Carter column; Udall, second, has only 298.5.

On the Republican side, Reagan won or led for 98 delegates in the Tuesday competition, Ford for 78.

That sent the Ford total to 779 nominating votes, Reagan's to 642. There remain 168 uncommitted GOP delegates.

Reagan and his managers are talking about winning what they regard as wavering delegate support currently counted in the Ford column.

These were the key figures on the Tuesday outcome:

—Ford barely got past Reagan in Tennessee, gaining 50 per cent of the vote and a margin of only 2,200 ballots.

10 Years Ago

Rev. Henry Franklin Paschall of Nashville, Tenn., formerly of Hazel, was elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention at the group's meeting held at Detroit, Mich.

The newly organized Calloway Wranglers Riding Club will sponsor a horse show on May 30 at the ring located east of Jones Iron and Metal Company on Railroad Avenue.

Dr. Ralph Tessenier, dean of the Murray State University Graduate School, will be the speaker at the MSU Alumni Banquet on May 28.

Miss Sharon Lockhart and Joe Forsee, seniors at Murray High School, have been named as Miss and Mr. Library by the Library Club of the school.

Births reported include a boy to Dr. and Mrs. Bill Clark Thomas on May 21.

20 Years Ago

Joe Tarry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tarry, Jr., senior at Murray High School, was named to receive the Arion Award by the Murray Lions Club at the banquet held by the Murray High School Band.

Named as winner of the First District PTA scholarship is Miss Rosemary Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jones, and senior at Murray High School.

The new religious library of the College Church of Christ is now in operation.

Attending the Kentucky Lions Club Convention held at Middlesboro May 19-22 were Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pat Ward.

Births reported include a girl, Debra Jane, to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Keys Ellison on May 8, a boy, Lamar Hendon, to Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Glenn Harrell on May 11, and a girl, Brenda Ruth, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Macon Overcast on May 10.

The delegate count was weighted by congressional districts, and Reagan actually led that, 22 to 21.

—In Kentucky, Ford captured 51 per cent of the vote and got 19 delegates; Reagan was four points behind him and got 18.

—Oregon gave Ford 52 per cent, and 16 delegates to Reagan's 14, with the count nearing completion.

—Reagan's victories were by big margins. In Arkansas he got 63 per cent of the popular vote and 17 delegates to Ford's 10. In Idaho, it was 74 per cent for Reagan, and 16 delegates to five for the President. And in Nevada, Reagan rolled up 65 per cent, gaining 12 delegates while Ford got five.

—Church was gaining 35 per cent of the Democratic vote in Oregon, Carter 28 per cent, Brown's write-in 23 per cent. The Brown share could go higher; his write-in ballots couldn't be tallied by computer. Church led for 15 delegates, Carter for 12, Brown for 7.

—Brown won in Nevada with 53 per cent of the vote, 20 points over Carter. He got 6 delegates there, Carter 3.

—Carter's landslide figures were 78 per cent and 36 delegates in Tennessee, 62 per cent and 17 delegates in Arkansas, and 59 per cent and 37 delegates in Kentucky.

—Church captured Idaho with no contest: 80 per cent of the vote and 14 delegates to Carter's 2.

Heartline: My husband recently died. He worked many years for a railroad. I am very confused about the railroad retirement program and wonder if you would explain the requirements for widows under the program—R. C.

Answer: There are two basic requirements, other than age, that must be met before a widow is eligible for survivor benefits. Her husband must have worked at least 10 years (120 months) in the railroad industry, and he must have established a "current connection" with the railroad industry.

A railroad worker establishes a current connection if he works in the railroad industry 12 of the 30 months directly preceding his retirement or death. If an employee leaves the railroad industry prior to his retirement or death and does not establish a current connection there is an alternative method that may apply.

This method applies only when an employee has 12 months of railroad service in a 30-month period and has not had regular non-railroad employment after that period.

For example, a man works 20 straight years in the railroad industry. At the end of these 20 years, he stops working even though he is only age 55. If he does not have regular employment outside the railroad industry, then he will have a current connection established upon his retirement or death. However, self-employment or working for certain federal governmental agencies (Department of Transportation, Interstate Commerce Commission, National Mediation Board or Railroad Retirement Board) will not break a current connection.

Any employee who has established a current connection at the time he starts receiving his railroad retirement annuity cannot have it broken.

If a worker had both 10 years of service and a current connection with the railroad industry, his widow will be eligible for survivor benefits from railroad retirement, provided she meets certain age requirements.

An annuity is payable to any widow over 60. There is a reduction in the annuity of 19-40 of 1 per cent for every month that the widow is under the age of 65. The maximum reduction is 38 months.

Also, an annuity is payable to a widow at any age if she is caring for a child under 18 or a child disabled before age 22. An annuity is payable, also, to widows at ages 50-59 who are permanently disabled and unable to work in any regular employment.

Power Lawn Mower Injuries

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Blasingame

Grass-cutting season brings many injuries, some quite serious, which are caused by power lawn mowers. Lacerations to hands and feet are common, including amputations of fingers and toes. Severe injuries can occur from foreign bodies hurled by the lawn mower at the operator or bystanders.

Some years ago, the Journal of the American Medical Association reported the penetration of the abdomen of a pregnant woman by an iron bolt thrown by a power mower. She required a cesarean section to save her child.

The Consumer Safety Commission estimated a few years ago an annual injury rate of 140,000 persons by power mowers.

Studies reveal that the energy equivalent of a fast-moving power mower blade weighing 3.5 pounds is much greater than that of a bullet fired from a high-powered pistol.

Before mowing the lawn, be sure to clear the area of all metal objects such as cans, nails, bolts, screws and wire. Likewise, remove rocks, bricks, glass and pieces of wood. In spite of protective guards about the edges of the mower, such objects struck by the high-speed rotary blade may fly out in any direction with great force, travel some distance from the mower and strike a bystander.

Stop the mower before attempting to remove a piece of string, rope or some other soft object from the mower. Your hand may become caught and drawn into the rotating blade, or some object may suddenly become loosened and thrown forcefully into your eye, face or trunk. Never stick your foot under the edge of the mower when it is running to try to dislodge that is caught. Serious injury can occur in an instant.

Injuries sustained from the use of power lawn mowers should be handled with caution and urgency.

More attention should be given to "thrown objects" injuries. A small penetrating wound may be deceptive, since a foreign body may become embedded several inches away from the point of entrance.

Q: Mrs. J.S. wants to know if evidence exists to show that artificial sweeteners cause cancer in humans.

A: No relationship between the consumption of artificial sweeteners and cancers in man has been demonstrated. Some authorities doubt that the evidence of a relationship between such sweeteners and cancer in animals has been accurately shown. The handling of sweeteners by the Food and Drug Administration has been based partly on political pressures.

Q: Mrs. R.B. inquires whether it is better for a child with minimal brain dysfunction to be taught separately.

A: How a given child with minimal brain dysfunction (MBD) is to be taught depends on the condition's severity. Most of these children have a short attention span and are not mentally retarded.

The child should preferably be taught in regular classes along with his peers. However, special teachers, especially those helpful in correcting reading disability, should be used if available and if the child is not keeping up with others in his class. Cooperation among the physician, teachers and parents is essential.

Brewers Nip Yanks 1-0 In Pitching Duel Last Night

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Dock Ellis gave up only four hits, struck out four and walked just one ... but.

"I'm paid to win, not just to pitch well," the New York Yankees right-hander said.

"Tonight, the other guy was better."

The "other guy" was Milwaukee left-hander Bill Travers. He limited the Yanks to four hits, struck out seven and walked two as the Brewers nipped New York 1-0.

"From what I've seen of the left-handers in this league, there's (California's) Frank Tanana and Travers and pick anyone you want for the third spot," said Milwaukee Manager Alex Grammas after Travers hurled his first major league shutout.

"It was my best-pitched game ever," Travers said.

"It's taken me six years to get everything together."

In other American League games Tuesday night, Boston blanked Detroit 2-0, Cleveland nipped Baltimore 3-1, Oakland stopped Minnesota 6-1 and the Chicago White Sox downed California 7-1. Kansas City at Texas was postponed by rain.

The game's only run came in the fourth when Darrell Porter led off with a double, took third on Bob Hansen's grounder and scored on George Scott's sacrifice fly.

Red Sox 2, Tigers 0

Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer and Luis Tiant's second shutout of the season gave the surging Boston Red Sox their win over Detroit and their 11th victory in their last 14 games. Yastrzemski's roundtripper in the fourth scored Carlton

Fisk, who had opened the inning with a walk.

Tiant was masterful, scattering seven hits, striking out eight, including slugger Willie Horton three times, and walking none.

A's 6, Twins 1

Vida Blue's eight-hit pitching was backed by Sal Bando's two-run homer and Billy Williams' two runs batted-in as Oakland shakked Minnesota. Blue had a shutout until the eighth when he issued his only two walks of the game and gave up a run-scoring single to Dan Ford.

Bando's sixth homer of the season in the second inning and Williams' single with the bases loaded in the third were more than enough for the Oakland left-hander. Phil Garner had three of the A's 11 hits while Twins rookie Butch Wynegar had two of the hits off Blue, 4-5, to raise his batting average to .300.

White Sox 5, Angels 1

Pat Kelly smashed a two-run homer and Rick Gossage limited California to just six hits as Chicago won its ninth straight game, the White Sox' longest winning streak since 1973.

Brian Downing's two-out single in the eighth snapped a 1-1 tie and Chicago added four more runs in the ninth to hand Angels starter Gary Ross his sixth loss in seven decisions.

Indians 3, Orioles 1

Pat Dobson's nine-hitter lifted Cleveland to its fourth straight victory. The Indians' defense helped seal the win as they turned in four double plays.

Manager Bill Virdon of the Houston Astros has Mel Wright as his pitching coach. They paired up during their brief tenure with the New York Yankees.

Record Field Expected For George Hart Tourney June 2

A record field of more than 125 ladies from the four-state area around West Kentucky is expected to participate in the 9th annual George Hart Invitational Tournament Wednesday, June 2, at the Murray-Calloway Country Club.

Invitations have been sent to lady golfers at 35 clubs in the area, and the growing number of entries is expected to surpass last year's field of 123 players in the one-day, 18-hole, medal play event.

Mrs. Venela Sexton and Mrs. Elizabeth Slusmeyer are co-chairmen of this year's tournament, assisted by the ladies comprising the women's golf committee at the club.

The $10 entry fee covers the entire day's activities, including lunch, a style show and other special activities in addition to the 18 holes of competitive golf.

The top winners in each of five flights will receive prizes valued at several hundreds of dollars. Players will be pre-flighted by handicaps and the tournament will be shotgun started, beginning at 9 a.m.

Entries and handicaps should be sent to Mrs. Slusmeyer (Apt. 1-4, Murray Manor, Murray, Ky. 42071) not later than May 27, immediately after which pairing will be made and tee-off times sent to the clubs of the ladies from whom entries have been received.

The winner of the championship flight also will receive the coveted traveling trophy presented by Mrs. Lochie Hart of Murray in memory of her husband, the late George Hart. A prominent civic leader, Mr. Hart was mayor of Murray, president of the Bank of Murray and an active member of the club.

Another special trophy to be awarded will be the Dorothy Holland Team Trophy, an award donated by Al Lindsey, Murray jeweler, in memory of his aunt, an active member of the club until her death in 1970.

The trophy will be presented to the four players from any one club whose aggregate score is the lowest of any similar group participating. Last year, the team trophy was won by the Paxton Park team from Paducah for the second consecutive year—Dutch Bryant, Wanda Mullinax, Bea Tapp and Mary Jane Alford.

The defending champion, Dr. Lea Larson, women's golf coach at Austin Peay State University, Clarksville, Tenn., will not play this year because of other commitments. She also won the tournament in 1974, and last year shot an even par 75 (ladies' par) to repeat.

Previous winners of the championship flight have been: Mrs. Jane Ann Nall, Mayfield (1968); Mrs. Mary Anderson, Metropolis, Ill., (1969) Mrs. Alford in 1970 and 1972; Mrs. Betty Vowell, Fulton, (1971) and Mrs. Harriett Jaeger, Jackson, Mo., (1973).

Westphal Hoping For Better Performance This Thursday

By BERT ROSENTHAL

AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Plunging into the Valley of the Suns has helped Paul Westphal reach his peak in professional basketball.

But one of the few downfalls he has encountered during his first season with the Phoenix Suns was last Sunday's opening game of the National Basketball Association's nationally televised best-of-seven championship series against the Boston Celtics.

In that game, a 98-87 loss to his former teammates, Westphal, the Suns' leading scorer, hit only four of 17 field goal attempts and scored eight points.

Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn, however, is quite cognizant of Westphal's capabilities and doesn't figure the Suns' hard-driving guard to have such a poor showing in Thursday night's Game Two at the Boston Garden.

"They'll be looking to go to Westy," said Heinsohn. "He's a big part of their offense. He could break out. He's a good shooter, and he could come back and hit 10 of 17."

Heinsohn's decision to put Jo Jo White on Westphal was credited with adversely affecting the play of the Suns' backcourtman. During the regular season, Westphal had been guarded by Charlie Scott, the player he had been traded for a year ago.

Heinsohn explained that he made the change because he wanted Scott guarding the Phoenix player bringing the ball upcourt, in this case, rookie Ricky Sobers. That job had been Westphal's earlier in the season, but when Dick Van Arsdale suffered a broken bone in his left arm, Sobers took his place in the lineup and has been there ever since.

White also had been familiar with Westphal, having played against him during practice for three years.

The Suns basically are a pattern offensive team, using a lot of picks and cuts in attempts to set up open shots, and under the system, the quick Westphal is the player they go to most often.

Because of his former association with the Celtics, Westphal has been under extreme pressure since it was determined a week ago that it would be a Boston-Phoenix final.

"I think there has to be a lot of pressure on Paul," said Van Arsdale. "I know I would feel it if I were in his place."

Westphal has been trying to relax and maintain his stamina during the long spell between games by playing tennis.

But he still harbors some bitter feelings towards the Celtics and is hoping to make amends for his poor opening game with a better performance Thursday night.

"The Celtics have this provincial attitude," said Westphal. "They say, 'We made the kid a player.' I resent that a little."

"I definitely feel I didn't have a chance at Boston, but I don't really blame anybody.

Seaver Learns How To Pitch To Phillies---Very Carefully

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Tom Seaver has learned how to pitch to the Philadelphia Phillies — very carefully.

One of the hottest teams in baseball, the Phillies have beaten Seaver two times in the last week, including Tuesday night's 8-4 decision over the New York Mets.

"They're an extremely hot team — as hot as they can be," said Seaver. "That's about as hot a club as I've seen in a long time. Everything they hit was in exactly the right place."

The Phillies' victory was their 24th in 30 games and boosted their lead to 5½ games in the National League East over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Seaver, a three-time Cy Young winner, continued to be treated with little respect by Tommy Hutton. He had three hits Tuesday night to boost his lifetime mark against Seaver to .424. Hutton has 14 career hits in 33 appearances and 11 RBI against the right-hander.

While the Phillies continued to roll, Seaver continued to reel. The loss was his fourth straight after four victories at the start of the season.

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Atlanta Braves 10-4; the San Diego Padres stopped the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2; the Montreal Expos trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-3 in 11 innings; the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 and the San Francisco Giants beat the Houston Astros 7-6.

Hutton shared the offensive load with Jay Johnstone, who slammed four hits, including a home run, drove in two runs and scored three. The Phillies rallied from a 3-0 first-inning deficit to help unbeaten Jim Lonborg earn his seventh victory. The Phillies raked Seaver for seven runs on 14 hits before he left for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

Reds 10, Braves 4
George Foster homered twice and drove in five runs for the second straight game, helping unbeaten rookie Santo Alcala win his fourth game in Cincinnati's victory over Atlanta.

Foster had a three-run homer in the seventh, a solo shot in the third, and a run-scoring single in the first. His production gave him 35 RBI for the season, second highest in the National League to Dave Kingman's 36.

Padres 5, Dodgers 2
Doug Rader drove in four runs with a double and a three-run homer to spark San Diego left-hander Randy Jones past Los Angeles for his ninth victory. The decision was the fourth straight this season by the Padres over the National League West-leading Dodgers. Jones, the winningest pitcher in baseball, is now 9-2 with a 2.24 ERA.

Expos 6, Pirates 3
Larry Parrish hit a two-run double in a four-run 11th inning to give Montreal its victory over Pittsburgh. With the game tied 2-2 through 10 innings, the Expos scored all their go-ahead runs off Pirate relief pitcher Bob Moose, unscored upon in all 13 of his prior relief appearances this season.

Cardinals 5, Cubs 2
Willie Crawford drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a double and set up another run with a single to power St. Louis past Chicago. Crawford wiped out a 2-1 Chicago lead by smashing his third homer of the year in the sixth after Bake McBride had been hit by a pitch. Crawford also doubled home a run and scored on a single by Ron Fairly when the Cardinals clinched the game with two more runs in the eighth inning.

Giants 7, Astros 6
Willie Montanez's fourth hit of the game, a two-run homer in the eighth inning, lifted San Francisco over Houston. Bobby Murcer cracked his third career grand slam in a five-run, fifth inning rally that erased a 3-0 Houston lead and put the Giants ahead 5-3.

But the Astros scored an unearned run in the seventh and went ahead on Wilbur Howard's first home run in two years, a two-run shot in the top of the eighth for a 6-5 lead. Murcer's one-out single off Astros' relief ace Ken Forsch, 1-1, started the Giants' winning rally. With two down, Montanez hammered his second homer of the season into the right field stands.

Ulf Nilsson Turns In Impressive Showing

WINNIPEG (AP) — Center Ulf Nilsson has played some super hockey games for the Winnipeg Jets, but perhaps none as impressive or as important as Tuesday night.

The Swedish-born Nilsson scored three goals, one in each period, to spark Winnipeg to a key 6-3 triumph over the Houston Aeros and a commanding 3-0 lead in the World Hockey Association championship.

The Jets can capture their first-ever playoff title with a victory at home Thursday night.

"It was a super performance," Winnipeg Coach Bobby Kromm said of his forward. "You couldn't ask a player to do anything more than he did tonight."

"He played super hockey, offense and defense, killed penalties, scored goals and hit people. What else is there to do?"

Nilsson victimized Gordie Howe on his first two goals and scored the vital third-period goal to give Winnipeg a four-goal lead that enabled them to coast home.

Anders Hedberg, Veli Ketola and Peter Sullivan

George Burns, 1973 Canadian amateur golf champion, is a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., and playing on the PGA golf tour. He turned professional last July.

The New York Yankees will hold their Oldtimers' Day in Yankee Stadium, Saturday, Aug. 7 with the Baltimore Orioles as the regularly scheduled American League attraction.

scored the other Winnipeg goals with Don Larway getting two and Mark Howe one for Houston. Winnipeg held period leads of 4-1 and 5-2 and outshot Houston 25-18 before a capacity crowd of 10,384.

Nilsson not only scored, but he also played one of his strongest defensive games as a Jet and handed out some crushing body checks not expected of him. And on more than one occasion he glared steadily into the eyes of Aeros' players, prepared to drop the gloves if necessary.

"That's not usually my game but it's all part of the game, the hard checks," the soft-spoken playmaker said of a tremendous body check he leveled on Houston captain Ted Taylor in the first period. "He had his head down and I got my shoulder into him."

That check knocked Taylor off the puck and led directly to Hedberg's goal at 8:49 to give Winnipeg a 3-1 lead and send them on their way.

"The thing about Ulf is that he seldom, if ever, misses a play," veteran linemate Bobby Hull said of his center. "The reason we come out of our own end so easily is because Ulf gets himself into position to get the puck and then never gives it away."

"Anders and I work ourselves into position and he always finds a way to hit us with the pass."

It's that type of play that makes the Winnipeg break so effective and part of the reason why Nilsson is leading all playoff scorers with 23 points, including a record-tying 16 assists.

Houston Coach Bill Dineen said puck control and conditioning were becoming the key factors in the series.

"You simply can't afford to get down three goals to a team that plays as strong a defensive game as Winnipeg,"

Dineen said. "They have such excellent puck control."

"Tonight they were just a better team all the way around."

King's Chance Of Winning Up, But So Is Chance Of Crashing At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Grant King figures his chances of winning Sunday's Indianapolis 500 are 11-1, but his odds are also three times greater of blowing an engine or crashing.

King, whose three-car team is the largest in the race, said: "Having three cars in the field is a lot harder on me, but it's also very rewarding."

Even if all three of his machines — two 1976 Dragons and a 1974 Kingfish — fail to complete even one lap, the Clermont, Ind., car builder and mechanic figures the least he can collect in prize money is $45,000, since even last place in the 33-car field pays a minimum of $14,000.

"My chances of winning are something like 11-1, but we also have three times the chance of crashing a car or three times the chance of blowing engines."

"It's three times the problems or more. I've spent the last couple of days just working on fueling systems — new hoses, couplings, valves, nozzles, everything."

"Each one of the cars has a lot of stuff that needs to be gone through — engines, radios and so forth."

"I've got to find fire clothes, pit crew uniforms, tickets, pit passes...."

As for pit crewmen, "I have to have 33 people just to service the three race cars, you know, three scorers, three signalmen on the wall, three holding the fuel vent valve ... it just goes on and on."

Still, King feels rewarded for all the years he came here with two cars and only got one in the show.

"I've suffered quite a few setbacks here, and I've missed the race enough to know how it feels," he said. "I feel like we've really accomplished something."

He added wryly, "The cash don't hurt either."

There was a time when it looked like none of King's cars would make the race this year.

John Martin qualified on the second attempt, on the second day of time trials, at 182.417 miles an hour in a Dragon.

Bob Harkey put the Kingfish in on the third day of qualifying at 181.141 m.p.h. and Sheldon Kinser got the other Dragon in later the same day at 181.114 m.p.h., which turned out being the slowest speed in the field.

"That car is faster. In fact, they're all capable of going faster," King said. "We barely got the two new cars done in time for the speedway, and I really feel pretty good about how well they worked right out of the box."

"Everybody else is like an arms-length ahead of us in testing and development."

Ford Victory In Kentucky Seen As Psychological 'Boost'

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — President Ford's victory in the Kentucky primary is seen as a "tremendous psychological boost" by his state campaign chairman.

But while supporters of former California Gov. Ronald Reagan also say the primary will have a psychological effect on who captures the nomination at the Republican National Convention in August, they also say the win will have little impact on their candidate's delegate strength.

Hal Rogers of Somerset, Ford's Kentucky campaign chairman, gleefully told about 30 supporters at Ford headquarters that the victory was especially gratifying because the Ford campaign got started late and because Kentucky had been labeled a Reagan state.

But across the street, at Reagan state campaign headquarters, the campaign organizers shrugged off their loss.

"The real tragedy is psychological," said former Kentucky Gov. Louie Nunn, who spearheaded Reagan's Kentucky campaign. "But if it's explained to the voters in other states, it won't make that much difference."

Nunn said he meant that while the Ford victory might slow Reagan's momentum it would not make much of a difference in terms of delegate strength.

Rogers admitted that Ford would probably only pick up a handful of delegates as a result of the percentage of votes he received, but he said the vote clearly shows that Kentuckians think of the President as "a good man doing a good job."

The small crowd at the Ford headquarters grew more jubilant as the primary results became clear, while the subdued group at Reagan's camp dwindled.

Nunn looked discouraged as it became apparent Reagan could not pull ahead, but still managed to quip:

"I think the Ford people did a fine job of organizing and I want to commend them. I know they'll support us in November."

Nunn said two main factors accounted for Reagan's loss to Ford. "Ours was a rural vote, and it just didn't get out," he said. Reagan did not do as well as expected in northern and central Kentucky, although he did surprisingly well in Jefferson County, Nunn said.

The former governor also said Reagan supporters may have become too complacent after his strong showing at the state GOP convention last month.

Olney Owen, Reagan's campaign director for Kentucky, said Reagan's statement that he would sell the Tennessee Valley Authority may have been a factor in Kentucky's primary vote.

But he said he sensed a week ago—even before the TVA statement—that Reagan was "fading" in Kentucky because of the efforts the Ford campaign workers were making. Owen said the Ford camp had resources the Reagan campaign didn't and that it enabled Ford to capitalize on the large undecided vote.

Owen also said he was "convinced that Reagan's popularity has not decreased" in Kentucky.

He predicted that if Reagan wins the nomination, there will be substantial cross-over voting by Democrats in the November election.

Buyers Clubs Checked By Department

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Certain buyer's clubs recently have come under the close scrutiny of the state Department of Banking and Securities, according to the securities director, Jack Bunnell.

Bunnell said his office has received some 20 complaints about the clubs and added that there is "no telling" how many of the organizations are operating in Kentucky.

The securities director said farm families frequently are solicited, with many clubs charging a $289 membership fee. This fee supposedly entitles a member to a substantial discount on an item purchased through the club.

To illustrate the process, Bunnell cited a hypothetical case of a farmer needing a tractor. As a member of the club, the farmer would first obtain a signed statement quoting the tractor's price from the most reasonable dealer in the area.

The club, which may have claimed to have exclusive contracts with manufacturers, would then supposedly find the tractor at a better price and charge the member 20 per cent of the total amount saved. For example, if $1,000 were saved, the farmer would pay the club $200.

However, Bunnell said his office has learned of only one incident in which money was saved through an agriculture buyer's club. A man told him of receiving a $1.50 discount on a spool of barbed wire after paying the $289 membership fee.

A firm operating in southern Kentucky sold memberships for $100, but left the state soon after collecting the fees.

Bunnell said the inflationary cost of living has been responsible for a growing interest in buyer's clubs.

Drunk Drivers A Threat To Memorial Day Drivers In Ky.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The police officer was parked on the shoulder of the road, engine idling, as he kept a wary eye on the heavy, after-midnight holiday traffic.

In another hour or two at most, the road would be empty, and he would be able to call it a night. He could almost taste that end-of-the-watch cup of coffee back at the station house.

Suddenly, a single light dancing in his rearview mirror interrupted his reverie. The onrushing car had a headlight burning out.

At most, it called for no more than a pleasantly-worded warning before letting the motorist go on his way.

But as the officer approached the driver's side of the car after pulling him over, the rear window of the vehicle began sliding slowly up and down.

Then, the other windows began moving in a similar fashion while the officer, a little edgy by now, reached back to the holster on his hip to unsnap the strap that held his service revolver in place.

Suddenly, the door of the car flew open, and the driver—seeing the officer's surprised expression—growled, "Would you believe that I couldn't find the door knob."

A strong, telltale scent of liquor drifted from inside the car. A drunk who can't even open his car door is no laughing matter. But, fortunately, he had been stopped before he killed himself or someone else.

During the upcoming Memorial Day Weekend, state safety officials are hoping that every drinking driver is removed from the road that easily. Some won't be.

Bennie Maffet, traffic safety coordinator for the state's Department of Transportation, says that at least two of the 13 fatalities recorded over Memorial Day weekend last year were attributed to drinking drivers.

"And at least 31 of the 242 non-fatal accidents which also occurred over that holiday weekend also involved drinking drivers," he said.

Maffet went on to say that the figures probably are on the conservative side since police usually don't cite drinking as the sole cause of an accident unless the driver is just "stone blind."

But in classifying fatal accidents by contributing circumstance, he believes that such categories as inattention, speeding, driving on the wrong side of the road and disregard of stop signs include many incidents where alcohol prevented the driver from responding properly to avoid the accident.

According to The 1974 Kentucky Fatal Accident Report, speeding was the leading factor in fatal accidents that year, with alcohol a close second. The speeding and alcohol categories combined were responsible for 45 per cent of all fatal accidents in Kentucky during 1974.

Maffet hopes people who plan to drink over the Memorial Day weekend also plan to let someone else do the driving.

"Should the effects of too much alcohol sneak up on someone when no one else is available to take over the wheel, that person should take a rest for several hours before climbing into his car," he said.

"Time is the only cure that will sober up anyone. The myths about coffee, a good meal, etc., just aren't true," he said.

"Our cemetery population will attest to that."

SOLAR EQUIPMENT
NEW YORK (AP)—"Use of solar energy to supply fuel needs of small residences and large buildings showed many signs during 1975 of suddenly evolving from the experimental stage into an important worldwide commercial reality," says Electrical Marketing.

But, it adds, "as the situation stands now, it would seem the export market for solar heating equipment to a world market even more starved than the U.S. for energy may be far more important than the domestic market."

Orientation Program Slated On MSU Campus

A voluntary Summer Orientation Program at Murray State University to assist freshmen and transfer students in making the transition to life on the campus will consist of five sessions this summer.

Don Chamberlain, program director, said the schedule this year, the third for the program, includes a two-day mid-week session, two two-day weekend sessions, and two three-day weekend sessions.

He gave these dates: Two-day sessions—Wednesday and Thursday, June 16-17, Saturday and Sunday, June 19-20, and Saturday and Sunday, July 10-11; and three-day sessions, Friday through Sunday, June 25-26-27, and Friday through Sunday, July 16-17-18.

Although a student may attend any of the orientation sessions, Chamberlain explained that those who are undecided about a major field of study are being encouraged to take advantage of special counseling opportunities during the three-day sessions.

Students will stay in residence halls and eat meals in a campus cafeteria during the experience.

"While these students are on the campus, they will register for fall classes, tour the campus, meet top administrators, talk to student leaders, meet faculty advisers, and get the feel for the social side of college life," Chamberlain continued.

Intended to make the adjustment to the college environment "as helpful and as enjoyable as possible," according to Chamberlain, the program is designed to eliminate many of the problems new students encounter when they first arrive on the campus.

"Since we believe that students can relate effectively to students," he added, "the program will be implemented from beginning to end by present Murray State students who have been specially selected and trained as student counselors."

A special feature of each orientation session will be a program for parents to help them understand the adjustments their sons and daughters will be making and to answer their questions.

Participating students will be charged $15 for a two-day session or $22.50 for a three-day session, with that fee covering the costs of housing, meals, and all activities. The only charge to parents will be housing and meals, if they choose to stay on campus.

Dr. Machree Ward, director of the Center for Academic Advisement and Orientation, is organizing the program to provide students with assistance, when necessary, in choosing a major, in planning a schedule, in understanding academic requirements, and in completing the registration process.

An advisory committee consisting of representatives from each college on the campus, the vice-president of student development, the dean of admissions, and an at-large member from the faculty, along with Dr. Ward and Chamberlain, is involved in planning the orientation program.

Chamberlain, who has directed the orientation program each of the past two years, called the effort last summer "extremely successful." A total of 1,150 students and 850 parents visited the campus during three weekend sessions in 1975.

Chamberlain said that 98 per cent of the students who attended orientation sessions returned to the campus to enroll for the fall semester and that 85 percent of the incoming freshmen last fall had attended the summer orientation.

Auctions Criticized By Book, Record Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — If your collection of Conway Twitty's greatest hits never arrived in the mail, chances are it's gone for a good purpose — helping the cash-starved Postal Service solve its debt problems.

The Postal Service is making profits from auctioning off books and records after its new mail sorting machines have ripped them from their wrappers.

Spokesmen for the book and record industries said Tuesday that their merchandise has received unprecedented damage in the mail since the Postal Service began using an automated system for sorting packages.

But in many cases, the book or record isn't damaged. It's simply separated from its packaging — and its address — by the machines, they said. In these cases, postal regulations allow the intact book or record to be auctioned off after a 60-day waiting period.

The book and record industries are pressing for an end to the auctions.

Congressional investigators have criticized some of the devices used to sort packages as "nonsense machines" that cause needless damage.

"When the Postal Service can auction off books that

Appeal Made

To President

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. John Breckinridge has appealed to President Ford to intervene in a Pentagon decision to close the Lexington Bluegrass Army Depot.

Breckinridge, of Lexington, said Tuesday he contacted the White House, reminding officials of a background file on the matter which he sent the President almost a year ago.

Ford, in a meeting with Kentucky media representatives last week, said the decision to close the facility was "tentative," and suggested that all parties would be given an opportunity to provide input to a final review of the decision.

It was announced last year the Army planned to close the installation, which employs about 2,600 persons, although the facility is among the most efficiently operated in the country.

Breckinridge said his decision to appeal the closing was prompted by the President's remarks last week.

become loose in the mail this gives it an economic reason not to locate the rightful owner," Leo Albert, a spokesman for the book publishing industry, told a House Post Office subcommittee.

The Postal Service has announced a moratorium on auctions of books and records from June 1 to Aug. 31 while it looks for alternatives to the auctions.

A spokesman for the financially troubled Postal Service said no figures are available on the proceeds from postal auctions since the service's billion dollar bulk mail system was completed this year. The mail agency says books and records are its biggest problems in the new system.

The spokesman said the loose items in the mail "frequently are caused by poor wrapping." He said postal rates for books and records are very low "and we have found that book publishers and record companies very often won't invest in good wrapping materials."

But industry representatives disputed this. "Our packaging is as good now as it's ever been, if not better," said Albert, chairman of Prentice-Hall International and head of the postal committee of the Association of American Publishers.

Hays Admits Relationship With Employee; Questions Still Remain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following Rep. Wayne Hays' admission that he had a "personal relationship" with a woman employee, the question remaining in dispute is whether she received $14,000 a year at taxpayer expense to be his mistress or whether she was a productive employee of Congress.

The Justice Department is trying to resolve that question and the little-used House ethics committee may make an effort, too.

Hays, in an emotional speech before the full House on Tuesday, admitted he lied when he denied having a relationship with Elizabeth Ray, a shapely clerk on the payroll of his House Administration Committee. But he contended he was telling the truth when he said he did not keep her on the government payroll at $14,000 a year just for her sexual services.

FBI agents were reportedly continuing their investigation for the Justice Department of Hays' relationship with Miss Ray as the House ethics committee was receiving strong pressure to open its own probe.

Twenty-eight House members, in a letter to ethics committee chairman John J. Flynt, urged the panel to launch an investigation "in order to guarantee the integrity of the House of Representatives, its members and its committees."

Flynt was campaigning in his home state of Georgia as Hays made his speech admitting his relationship with Miss Ray, but said he was flying to Washington immediately. He said all of the requests for an investigation, including a telephoned request from Hays himself, were "informal," noting his panel could act only on a formal request.

Four of the 28 members who signed the letter asking for the ethics committee investigation also sent a letter to Speaker Carl Albert. Albert and other House leaders were in London to accept a loan of the Magna Carta for the Bicentennial celebration.

In his confession before the crowded House chamber, the 65-year-old Hays denied keeping Miss Ray, 33, on the government payroll as his mistress. He said he lied about his relationship with her because he did not want his new wife to find out about it.

"Six weeks ago, I was married to the woman I love more than any other person or thing in this world.... Prior to this time, and for an extended period of time, I did have a relationship with Elizabeth Ray. I was legally separated and single. It was voluntary on her part and mine," Hays said.

He said he ended the relationship before his remarriage. He was divorced from his first wife in January.

Hays insisted that Miss Ray performed office duties for her pay, despite her contention that she could not type or handle telephones and that she did not do any work for Hays' committee.

Miss Ray, who says she was on the payroll only to be available for sex with Hays, denied Tuesday that her relationship with the congressman ended with his remarriage. She said she had seen him four times since his marriage and that they had been intimate twice.

"I'm not taking anything back. I'm telling the truth," she said.

Meanwhile, the Washington Post said it found that Miss Ray's name was not included on a list of House Administration Committee employees in monthly reports from November 1975 to February 1976. Hays was required to file the reports under House rules requiring that all committee employees be named.

The report for November 1975, signed by Hays on Dec. 15, does not list Miss Ray's name. Her name does appear on House payroll records.

Failure to list Miss Ray in the committee staff reports for four months had the effect of keeping her employment secret until payroll records were published in the Congressional Record on April 1, the Post quoted a congressional source as saying.

In admitting he lied about his relationship with Miss

Ray, Hays told his colleagues in the House chamber, "I now realize that I committed a grievous error in not presenting all the facts."

But, he said, "I stand by my previous denial of Miss Ray's allegation that she was hired to be my mistress. I further stand by my statement that Miss Ray is a seriously disturbed young lady, and I deeply regret that our relationship, and its termination, has apparently greatly aggravated her emotional and psychological problems."

Hays said that when he decided to marry Patricia Peak, who was in charge of his Ohio office, he told Miss Ray their relationship would have to end and that made her hysterical. He said she threatened suicide and blackmail.

"Only time will tell if Miss Ray has been successful in destroying my career," he said. "I pray to God she has not destroyed my marriage."

Miss Ray first told her story on Sunday in the Washington Post and Hays immediately lashed out at the newspaper.

He denied having any relationship with Miss Ray, said the Post was carrying on a personal vendetta against him and threatened legal action against the paper.

He made no mention in his House speech of his allegations against the Post, which reported that two of its reporters had listened in on a call between Hays and Miss

Ray at Miss Ray's request. Hays' Tuesday speech won mixed reviews. About 25 House members shook his hand after the speech and Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., kissed him. Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., said he thought the speech did Hays some good among his colleagues. "He admitted he had lied on his relationship with the young woman," Anderson said. "But that is not enough. There should be a hearing...."

Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill., said "the fundamental question of whether she did any work remains. Their personal relations are not my business or the business of the House."

Rep. William F. Goodling, R-Pa., called on Hays to either exonerate himself completely or resign.

"I, for one, am sick and tired of the kind of political arrogance that allows some elected officials to assume that winning an election gives them the right to do anything they please, regardless of whether it is right legally or morally," Goodling said.

Kentucky Teachers

Announce New Plans

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A group of Kentucky teachers has announced plans to form an alternative teachers' group to the union-oriented Kentucky Education Association.

During a news conference here Monday, Vada Phillips, a school teacher from Fayette County, said the new group, the Kentucky Association of Professional Educators, will hold its first meeting soon.

The group will be affiliated with the National Association of Professional Educators. Richard Mason, president of the NAPE, said the KAPE and the national organization prohibit teacher strikes and collective bargaining.

He said the groups "believe the ultimate authority with regard to policy and procedure in public schools is the board of education."

Marine Recruiters Pressured Into Enlistment Cheating

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine recruiters have been pressured into filling their enlistment quotas with unqualified men whose shortcomings quickly make them targets of abuse from boot camp drill instructors, according to testimony before a House subcommittee.

The villain of this scenario, the House panel was told Tuesday, is the concept of an all-volunteer military that forces recruiters who must meet quotas to cheat on standards when signing up enlistees.

Marine Commandant Louis H. Wilson and his manpower deputy, Lt. Gen. Robert H. Barrow, were scheduled to testify today before the House military subcommittee conducting the probe.

A former Marine recruiter from Detroit told the panel Tuesday that recruiters cheat and sign up men who do not meet the corps' mental, moral and physical standards in order to get enough volunteers.

And a former recruit told the panel he tried to commit suicide because his learning disability and slowness made drill instructors in San Diego so angry that one threatened to kill him.

The former recruit, Ronald Bannister, 17, of Mill Valley, Calif., said a drill instructor threatened to dump him in San Diego Bay and report him absent without leave. He said drill instructors called him crazy when he was unable to do simple jobs like bringing them coffee.

Congressmen Now Concentrate On November Test

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — With the primary now a pleasant memory, Kentucky's seven incumbent congressmen began concentrating today on the strategy they will need to win re-election in the fall.

"It's not going to be easy," admitted Rep. Romano Mazzoli, D-Louisville, who survived a stiff test in the 3rd District to win the Democratic nomination.

Mazzoli predicted that his next opponent, Republican Denzil J. Ramsey, will challenge him on busing, gun-control, and school prayer.

"These issues caused me a lot of anxiety," Mazzoli admitted, pointing out that James E. Lawrence had attacked his voting record on all three. Lawrence finished second, followed by Philip Baker.

Ramsey's only opponent on the GOP ballot was Shirley Murray, a Louisville housewife.

In the 1st District, Rep. Carroll Hubbard was unopposed while Bob Bersky of Sturgis held off Arthur Lee McLaughlin of Sacramento to capture the GOP nomination.

"I'm going to ram Hubbard's ambitions down his throat," Bersky remarked after his victory in Tuesday's election. He charged that Hubbard really has his eye on the governorship and isn't

Insurance Is Questioned By Lawsuit Filed

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A suit questioning the constitutionality of Kentucky's medical malpractice insurance law has been filed in Franklin Circuit Court.

Plaintiffs in the suit contend several provisions of the measure, which takes effect July 1, are unconstitutional, including a provision requiring doctors and hospitals to contribute to a patients compensation fund and carry a minimum of malpractice insurance.

The test suit was filed by Dr. William W. Hall, an Owensboro physician; Stephen J. Murphy, Owensboro, as taxpayer and patient; the Owensboro-Daviess County Hospital's Board of Managers and The Medical Protective Co., a malpractice insurer.

A similar suit was recently filed in U.S. District Court in Lexington by two Lexington surgeons.

interested in the welfare of his constituents.

"I'm starting to put a new organization together today and see about raising campaign funds," Bersky added.

The primary was just another day for Rep. William Natcher, D-Bowling Green, and state Sen. Walter Baker, R-Glasgow, since neither had any opposition in the 2nd District.

Natcher, who has been in Congress since 1953, is expected to have a tough battle with Baker.

Rep. Gene Snyder, R-Jefferson, sat out the election, waiting to see whether he would be running against Edward J. Wittenberg or George Clarke Martin in November. Wittenberg, a Covington attorney, took the Democratic nomination from Martin, an Anchorage builder who spent six days traveling through the district on foot to stir interest in his candidacy.

Rep. Tim Lee Carter, a Tompkinsville Republican and a member of Congress since 1965, easily won his party's renomination over Elmer Begley Jr. of Hyden and Thurman J. Hamlin of London in the 5th District.

On the Democratic side, Charles C. Smith, a professor of mathematics at Cumberland College, brushed aside his opponents — Nick Augusta of Cumberland, Jesse Ramey of Waynesburg, Hubert Marcum of Manchester, and Lyle Willis of Corbin.

Smith promised that he would give Carter "no rest in the months ahead. Carter hasn't done anything for the district and people are beginning to realize it."

Smith said he was planning to change his campaign style "but I don't want to say now what it will be. I think I can defeat Carter. If I didn't, I wouldn't have entered politics."

In the Sixth District, Rep. John Breckinridge, D-Lexington, walked away from Victor Privett, Nicholasville, in the Democratic race. No

Republicans filed. Breckinridge's only obstacle for re-election to a third term is American Party candidate, Anthony McCord of Lexington, who will be on the November ballot.

Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Hindman, handily disposed of his challenger, Ray Adkins of Whitesburg, who apparently had little of the organizational strength usually required to defeat an incumbent with Perkins' longevity. He has been in Congress since 1949.

Perkins will be facing Granville Thomas, a London Republican. He has sought public office many times but never been elected. Thomas had no opposition Tuesday.

Kentucky . . .

The decisive factor for Ford was achieved by Congressman Carter in the GOP stronghold in Southeastern Kentucky. Carter is a factional opponent of Nunn.

Almost complete figures showed Ford with 67,723 votes to 62,271 for Reagan — a 51-47 per cent margin.

The 5th District, Carter's bailiwick, gave the President a 9,000 vote margin, more than enough to tide him over statewide.

Ford's last week labors via direct mailings in the 7th also appeared to have paid off. He achieved a margin of almost 5,000 votes there.

In the Louisville area, especially the suburbs, Reagan ran well ahead of the President, helped perhaps by a seemingly stronger anti-busing stance.

Tommy Klein of Louisville, on the ballot by petition, had only .8 per cent of the total vote and the uncommitted ballot, also a requirement for the primary, drew 1.3 per cent.

The Democratic contest indicated Wallace still has drawing power in Kentucky.

He got almost 17 per cent of the total state vote and ran strongest in the 4th District with almost 21 per cent, partly because of anti-busing sentiment in the Jefferson County portion.

In Bullitt County, in the 2nd District, where many Louisville area workers live, Wallace received more than 34 per cent of the vote.

But the spectacular statistics belonged to Carter, whose margin was described by campaign chairman Dale Sights of Henderson as "unbelievable."

Carter rolled up almost 73 per cent of the vote in the 7th District and almost 72 per cent in the 1st at the opposite end of the state. He carried all the others with ease.

The almost complete total for Carter was 181,224 votes, with 51,684 for Wallace and 33,146 for Udall.

Both Wallace and Udall paid attention to Kentucky in the final weeks, and the Arizona congressman spent the last days practically campaigning in the Louisville area.

Anti-abortion candidate Ellen McCormack ran fourth with a surprising 17,011, or 5.6 per cent. For a time, based on results from heavily Nation . . .

Reagan had predicted he would win at least four of the six and it looked for a while like he might squeeze out a win in Tennessee to make his prediction good.

Ford's margin was narrow through much of the evening, and Reagan pulled to within 123 votes with about 50 precincts left to report.

But those precincts were in the Knoxville area, where Ford had done well all night and when they were finally counted, the President had squeezed through to a 1,500-vote victory, although he lost the delegate race 22-21 because of weighting by Congressional districts.

Stuart Spencer, Ford's deputy campaign manager, said the President was happy with the results. "This is the night Reagan had to make a big comeback," Spencer said. "He didn't do it."

Reagan said he was pleased with his

Catholic Northern Kentucky, she was in second place.

The uncommitted Democratic vote totaled almost 4 per cent. Sen. Henry Jackson, who had withdrawn too late to get off the ballot, got 2.7 per cent and Fifi Rockefeller, who served 1½ days in jail at Frankfort last weekend on a disorderly conduct charge, was last with .7 per cent.

The total GOP vote was about 133,000 of 460,000 registered, which can be considered moderate for a primary. About 306,000 of the state's one million registered Democrats turned out.

wins in Arkansas, Idaho and Nevada. He said of Kentucky and Tennessee, "I feel good doing as well as I did in these border states."

Church called the Oregon and Idaho wins "a quantum leap forward for my campaign." And he added: "The results tonight show people are taking a second look at Jimmy Carter."

But Carter emphasized his delegate harvest and that he has won half the primaries he has entered in May.

Udall, who won only six delegates Tuesday, said he was still in the race. "I won delegates in Arkansas and Kentucky," he said. "Mo Udall is a national candidate."

"Obviously I like to win," said Brown, a winner last week in Maryland, of the results in Oregon, where he was a write-in candidate. "But a write-in requires a commitment far greater than just punching a hole in the candidate's name."

New Programs Begun At Center

Jean Edwards helps Patty Thompson make pumpkin cake for snack time.

Dan Fortner, son of Mrs. Alma Fortner, enjoys working puzzles.

By Don Brock
Supervisor for Murray-Calloway
County Comprehensive Care Center

In the last year the Murray-Calloway County Comprehensive Care Center has started new programs in its Mental Health Program and Day Care Program for Development Disabilities. The center building at 702 and 704 Main Street are more crowded than ever with staff, clients, and students. These community centered services in two former residences are examples of what you would find in most towns and cities across Kentucky.

The National Institute of Mental Health has described Kentucky's Community Mental Health Services as one of the best such systems in the nation. The 15 Regional Mental Health-Mental Retardation Boards across the Commonwealth provide a comprehensive network of services within 35 miles of all Kentucky citizens.

This is a big step from the days when our society treated the mentally ill and retarded like criminals. Generally mental illness and mental retardation is better understood today as a sickness or deficiency that can occur in any family. Today we know more about the treatment of persons with emotional or mental illness problems. We know for instance that persons who receive treatment early in their home community are more likely to recover rapidly and fully.

When a person comes voluntarily to the Comprehensive Care Center for the first time, he might be reluctant and embarrassed. This feeling is significant since it reveals how most persons still feel that illness—when it is mental, emotional, or alcohol-drug problems—are problems which we should be able to control with simple will power. The trained staff at the Center does not share this belief and every attempt is made to help persons find those life style changes or adjustments which will enable them to live more healthy lives.

The person who comes for services might be depressed or anxious. He might have sought his own solution to his problems with alcohol or other drugs. He might be experiencing marriage difficulties or it might be a child with behavior or learning problems.

These kinds of living problems are daily dealt with by the following staff:

- J. Donald Brock, Center Supervisor and Alcohol-Drug Counselor
- R. Bailey Binford, M. D., Psychiatrist
- Fred Neff, Counselor
- Gayle Ruffin, R. N., Psychiatric Nurse
- J. Thomas Muehleman, Ph. D., Clinical Psychologist
- Jennifer L. Hipp, MSW, Social Worker
- Billie Downing, Mental Retardation Consultant
- Eleanor Kodman, Speech and Hearing Therapist
- Gayle Wadlington, Recreational Therapist
- Joyce Boyd, Intake Receptionist
- Beverly Goodman, Clinical Secretary
- Peggy Williams, Children's

Teacher
Pat Holt, Adult Teacher
Nona Tabers, Children's Aide and Bus Driver

The client is billed on sliding fee scale according to family income and number in the family. Many are served with their treatment covered by Medicaid, Medicare, and other governmental payments. The present case load at the Center is 175 cases with over 400 cases being treated during the year 1975; the total number of counseling sessions in 1975 was 5,717. These cases at the Center usually involve at least two family members.

Hospitalization is provided at either Murray-Calloway County Hospital, Western State Hospital, or Lourdes Hospital in Paducah. Out-patient services consist of individual, family, and group therapy by staff members. When a person first comes to the Center, they will be seen by an intake worker who evaluates the situation and then in staffing determines with other staff what treatment will be provided.

Other than counseling-therapy sessions, the staff serves the community with an average of 30 community education and consultation contacts a month. Films are provided to schools and groups on mental health, alcohol, drug, and mental retardation subjects. Staff members frequently teach classes at Murray State University in Psychology, Social Work, Home Economics, and various education courses. On these occasions, they serve as resource speakers who share what is happening in the community mental health movement in this area.

Center staff also work with student nurses in their psychiatric nursing class at Murray State University as these students follow-up particular patients who have been in state institutions. Students from Murray State are placed in the Center for field placement from the Psychology and from Social Work Departments.

Two major new programs have been begun during the 1975-1976 year. These are a more adequate 24-hour a day emergency service which enables people to call any hour of the day or night and have their emergency or information call responded to by a Mental Health staff person. This toll free number is 1-800-592-3980. The other major new program is the Adult Developmentally Disabled Day Care Program. At this time the program meets five days a week from 8:30 to 3:00 and involves eight adults who heretofore have had no daily services in the community.

The staff is excited to be involved in a growing program that is providing more needed services but is concerned as are local and regional board members when the reality of decreasing federal funding is realized. With each year more local support is needed by your Comprehensive Care Center. You can make the difference and keep our local center providing needed services by purchasing a ticket to the Charity Ball which is to be held June 5 at the Murray-Calloway County Country Club.

Consumer Comments

Proposed Regulations Would Cover Variety Of Interests

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
Now is the time to get your two cents' worth in on proposed government rules and regulations affecting everything from airport safety to antacid side effects. Federal agencies are seeking comments from consumers. If you have an idea, a complaint or some information to add, you can let the government know by following a few simple steps. Here are some proposed regulations and directions on how to make your views heard:

ANTACIDS
The Federal Trade Commission has proposed that advertisements for over-the-counter or nonprescription antacids carry the same types of warnings now required on the labels of the products. The warnings generally deal with possible side-effects or suggest asking a doctor's advice about use.

The FTC says many consumers don't read the labels and instead rely on advertising for information about antacids. Among the questions the commission is asking are: Would warnings in advertisements affect the ability of manufacturers to communicate the therapeutic effects of the product? What sort of warnings would be appropriate?

June 11 is the deadline for comments which should be sent to Special Assistant Director for Rulemaking, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C., 20580. Identify the comment this way: "Proposal Identifying Issues of Fact - Antacid Rulemaking."

AIRPORTS
The Federal Aviation Administration has proposed repairing major airports to have a detailed medical plan for coping with accidents and other emergencies. The plan would have to spell out facilities and personnel needed to accommodate the maximum number of people who might be on board the largest aircraft authorized to serve the airport. Among items that would have to be included are: name, location and emergency capability of participating hospitals and other medical facilities; designated areas for sheltering passengers and crew members; the number of surface vehicles and aircraft to be provided by cooperating agencies.

Present rules require airports to provide medical services in emergency plans, but do not describe specifics.

June 1 is the deadline for comments which should be sent to Federal Aviation Administration, Office of General Counsel, Rules Docket, AGC-24, 800 Independence Ave. S.W., Washington, D.C., 20591.

FOOD ADS
The Federal Trade Commission is holding hearings around the country on the first phase of proposals to set standards for nutritional claims in foods ads. (Nutritional claims on food labels already are regulated by the Food and Drug Administration; the FTC plan deals with advertising only.)

The hearings will deal with voluntary claims on natural and organic food; energy and calories; fat, fatty acid and cholesterol content; and health or related claims. Among the things the FTC is trying to learn is whether consumers understand terms such as "organically grown" and "health food."

Here is the hearing schedule:

San Francisco, July 12, Room 12138, Federal Bldg., 450 Golden Gate Ave. Contact: Kerner G. Probert at the federal building address, San Francisco, Calif., 94102, by June 22. Telephone: 415-556-1270.

Chicago, Sept. 13, Room 347-A, John C. Kluczynski, Federal Bldg., 230 S. Dearborn St. Contact: June Alvord, FTC, 55 E. Monroe St., Chicago, Ill., 60603, by Aug. 24. Telephone: 312-353-4423.

Dallas, Oct. 12, Room 452-B, 500 S. Ervay St. Contact:

Rosanna Nardizzi at the hearing address, by Sept. 21. Telephone: 214-749-3176

MATCHBOOKS
The Consumer Product Safety Commission has proposed mandatory safety standards for matchbooks. The standards, which would not apply to wooden matches packaged in boxes or to "strike anywhere" wooden kitchen matches, would require that the striking surface be located on the outside back of the matchbook and would set certain performance standards.

June 1 is the deadline for comments which should be sent to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C., 20207. A public hearing will be held May 21 in the Sixth Floor Hearing Room, 1750 K St., N.W., Washington.

Crusade Raises $857,871 Total

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The 22-hour-long 23rd annual WHAS Crusade for Children raised $857,871 in cash and pledges for the benefit of handicapped children in Kentucky and southern Indiana.

The telethon included entertainment by singers Bobby Rydell, C.W. McCall and numerous other performers.

Area fire departments pulled up to the building in fire engines to drop off the money they had collected around the community, and armored trucks periodically carried the cash away for safekeeping.

Phyllis Knight, executive producer, said Sunday that more pledges are expected in the coming weeks, and that the final amount collected "traditionally is $20,000 to $25,000 more than we go off the air with."

GERMAN EDITION
NEW YORK (AP) — Esquire magazine has launched a German-language edition called "Esquire Deutschland." It says the magazine is licensed to publish art and translation of articles which have appeared in Esquire during its 43-year history.

Buckle Up For Holiday Trip

FRANKFORT, Ky. — About 95 per cent of the automobiles in Kentucky are equipped with seat belts. Perhaps, 30 per cent of the occupants actually use them.

Bennie Maffet, transportation safety coordinator for the state Department of Transportation, believes people are not opposed to wearing seat belts, they just haven't realized their benefits.

"Most people have not seen or known someone who has walked away from a high-speed accident because he was wearing his seat belt," he said. "Usually, people will wear their belts while on a long trip, but for short drives to the store, they feel they don't need the belts."

"The statistics prove that most accidents occur within a very few miles of the victim's residence," he added.

The Office of Highway Safety Programs, which Maffet directs, has calculated that if 60 per cent of Kentucky's motorists would use their seat belts, 162 lives would be saved in one year.

There also would be over 15,000 less injuries and $145 million would be saved.

With the heavy traffic anticipated for the Memorial Day weekend, Maffet urges all motorists to "buckle up."

There will be at least a ten per cent increase in vehicles on Kentucky's highways during the holiday weekend, and a lot of drivers will be weary from driving long distances. Add the ingredient that a number of drivers will be traveling on unfamiliar routes and you can see the accident potential is very high, he said.

Thirteen people were killed on Kentucky highways during last year's Memorial Day weekend and 242 persons were injured.

The fatality record for the three-day holiday was set in 1966 when 20 lives were lost in traffic accidents in the state.

YOUNG DRINKERS
PRAGUE (AP) — Only half of the 15-year-olds in Czechoslovakia drink no alcohol. By the time they are 18, only 17 per cent do not drink, according to a Czech newspaper.

Bone Chips Would Be Allowed Under New Agriculture Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — There will be some finely ground chips from pig and cow bones in your hot dogs if the Agriculture Department carries through with its plan to let food processors use machines to gnaw meat closer to the bone.

But those bone chips should not be noticeable and, besides, they are a good source of calcium, the department says.

The plan is to allow deboning machines to scrape the bones of processed livestock carcasses. Deboning machines are used now by the industry but not in the final bone scraping manner being urged by the Agriculture Department for processed meat products.

The department's plan would allow processors to include up to one pound of bone chips in every 100 pounds of meat to make such things as pork sausage, canned beef stew and frozen pizza.

Officials say the technique could add nearly one billion pounds of meat a year to the U.S. food supply, about five pounds per American.

The department, explaining the new approach, said, "Under traditional hand deboning methods, loss of meat typically occurs when packing house employees attempt to cut the meat from neck bones, ribs and back-bones. Mechanical deboning machines can strip such bones clean of all meat that otherwise would not be gotten by hand deboning."

In the process, however, the department said that "a small amount of very finely ground bone" would be left in the meat. The proposed regulations would allow up to one per cent "calcium content" in mechanically deboned meat for processing.

The plan was criticized by Rodney E. Leonard, director of the private Community Nutrition Institute, who said "there are no microbiological standards" in the proposal and that there is a greater threat of bacterial contamination when such scrapings are processed into food.

Leonard is a former USDA executive who during the 1960s was head of a consumer and marketing agency which included federal meat inspection.

Officials said they recognize the issue is controversial and therefore will hold "consumer briefings" on the proposal, which will be opened for public comment at least through August 25.

The first briefing will be at the department's headquarters on May 26. Others will be in Sacramento, Calif., June 11; New York, June 23; and Chicago, July 8. Anyone wishing to submit written comments can send them in duplicate to the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, USDA, Washington, D.C.

Fate Of State Bail Bond Law Now Rests With Seven Justices

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The fate of Kentucky's controversial bail bond reform law now rests with the seven state Supreme Court justices.

The high court heard oral arguments Monday in an appeal of a circuit court ruling that declared a section of the law unconstitutional.

The appellate court has acted with unusual speed in the case in an attempt to try to resolve it before the law becomes effective June 19.

The legislation, enacted by the 1975 Kentucky General Assembly, outlaws bailbonding for profit. It also proposes a wide range of alternatives to posting a bond to ensure that an accused person appears in court for trial.

Jefferson Circuit Judge

Charles Anderson, ruling in a suit brought against the state by the Bonding Association of Kentucky, said last month that the legislation violates the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution and the first section of the Kentucky Constitution.

He enjoined enforcement of the law "as it relates to the bail bond business."

Anderson said the state could not prohibit an entire business that is not inherently injurious to the public or demoralizing in its activities.

He said it is "unduly oppressive" for the state to prohibit commercial bailbonding, since it can be regulated.

The industry currently is regulated by the state Insurance Department.

Attorney Don Major of

Louisville, representing the bonding association, took up that theme in his arguments before the Supreme Court.

He contended that the industry can be regulated, and therefore should not be entirely prohibited. He said the Department of Insurance "has not shouldered its burden" to effectively regulate bailbonding.

Major called the abolition of commercial bailbonding a "radical" solution. He compared it to solving the medical malpractice problem by abolishing the practice of medicine.

"We simply beg the right to continue business in competition with other alternatives (set out in the new law)," Major told the court.

He said bondsmen would be "waiting in the wings" to help out.

That drew a skeptical comment from Chief Justice Scott Reed, who asked Major, "You're not suggesting that (a bondsman) would only act as directed by the court, are you?"

Major acknowledged that would not be the case.

Justice Pleas Jones added, "in rural areas, he's not waiting in the wings — he's waiting for the jailer to call. Is that ok?"

"That is certainly not ok."

Major replied, admitting there has been some abuse in the industry. But he said proper regulation was the answer.

Cubs Transfer From Dens To Webelos At Robertson

Nineteen cubs transferred from regular dens to the Webelos den at the meeting of Pack 37 at Robertson School.

presided at the presentation of Webelos colors to Brad Brelsford, Trevor Mathis, John Reed, Robert Kondratko, Shane Guthrie, Jimmy Kelly, Todd Lawson, Kurt Keeslar, Steve Beyer of Den 1; to John Dyer, Dale Dycus, Carl Flood, Rodney Key, Mitchell McNutt, Greg Rogers, Rickey Rogers, Mark Woods of Den 3; to Brad Kenyon of Den 6 and to James Jones.

Webelos of 1975-76 who will be transferring to Boy Scout troops conducted the flag ceremony for the meeting. Den 1 provided a display of a log cabin scene they had constructed. Den 3 entertained the audience with a historical quiz; famous bicentennial personalities were described and the audience had to identify them.

The following achievement awards were presented by Cubmaster Mitchell:

In Den 1 Brad Brelsford received two silver arrows, Trevor Mathis one silver arrow and John Reed a Bear badge.

In Den 3 Mitchell McNutt earned the Bear plus one gold and one silver arrow; Dale Dycus earned one silver arrow.

In Den 4 Mark Waldrop received one gold and one silver arrow, John Hassell one Hutson one gold. In Den 6 Matt Ferguson earned the Wolf badge and one gold arrow.

Webelos scout Kyle Evans received his artist pin.

This was the final pack meeting of the school year.

Nell Evans congratulates her son, Kyle, on his new Webelos award at the meeting of Pack 37, Robertson School.
